Well November already!!!

This edition of FTG has some important information on how to deal with snakes coming too close to home.

HG CFA are looking for volunteers if you think you can help give Peter Hilbig a call on 0437 524 716.

Check out the fun Halls Gap children had at the Budja Budja Spooky Party on 31st October. We celebrated Halloween with some traditional Scottish fun thanks to Denise from Grampians Adventure Golf. I think some of the parents had way too much fun dressing up the children.

November is the time of markets and events so there is no excuse to go out and see what is happening in our region.

Enjoy our wonderful environment, community events and stay safe.

GRAMPIONS WILDFLOWER SHOW

I gave a very brief report on this year’s wildflower show in the October FTG so won’t say much more until we have our post show committee meeting on Nov 12.

But we would love some feedback from the general community.

- Did you come yourself?
- What are your thoughts? Are you an accommodation provider?
- If so, did you promote it to your guests?
- If not, why not?
- Did you get any reports from your guests?
- Have you suggestions for improvement?

Do help us plan for the future by giving us some honest answers to these questions. You can email me at margo@sietsma.com

BOTANICAL GARDEN REPORT

It’s been a busy month for the garden, and we hope some busy weeks still coming up.

We've been delighted to have the assistance of Jacqui Ridler from Jalluka Landcare to start making a grassland garden near our fountain, with trigger plants, pincushions and various daisies going in there and some in other beds. They've had some lovely rain to settle them in, but may need extra TLC as the weather heats up.

We've also had several groups ask to be shown around the garden, which we are always happy to do.

Four of us had a trip to the Melton Botanic Garden with the Australian Plant Society group, which was most interesting. They too are a mainly volunteer run garden, but with financial support from their council for things like paths and seats. We picked up some ideas for signage, and recruiting help from the community, recording of helpers and visitors etc. There are quite a few things on our wish list we need finance for (a toilet, electric power to the shelter, a mural on the outside of the shelter ….), so if you know of a sponsor do contact one of us.

Our hard working team have finished repairing the drip watering system, a huge job, and much work has also gone into updating our insurance under the umbrella of the Community Association, plus of course the regular raking, mowing, weeding.

As I said, the plants have enjoyed the rain, but so have our weeds! Our next working bee is November 13 and it would be great to see a large team!

FRIENDS OF GRAMPIONS GARIWERD

FOGGS welcome casual visitors to any of our activities. The next one is here in Halls Gap on Saturday 9th November starting in the Botanic Garden at 10 am for a short working bee to remove weeds from the vicinity of the gardens. 12 noon approximately we’ll stop for lunch. A BBQ will be operating so bring along whatever takes your fancy for lunch…so picnic things.

1 to 1.30 pm AGM followed by a short general meeting by the newly elected committee (please get in touch if you feel motivated to put your hand up for any position or just do so on the day)

2 pm approx…we will relocate to the Mural Room at Brambuk to hear the latest on wildlife diseases from Pam Whiteley, the Wildlife Health Victoria Surveillance Coordinator, Faculty of Veterinary and Agricultural Sciences, The University of Melbourne. She’ll be talking about opportunities for us to be involved in monitoring and investigating any odd wildlife deaths.

We also know that there are folk who care about our environment but can’t get to weekend activities. If you are one of those, consider joining us anyway, getting our quarterly newsletter and grow support. Look us up on the web, pick up a membership form from Brambuk, or drop in on one of our meetings.

ARARAT-BASED snake catcher Jamie Lind is recovering in hospital after a tiger snake bite. Just hours after talking to the Ararat Advertiser on Tuesday about snakes - including safety, property clean-ups and removal of snakes from properties - Mr Lind was called to remove a reptile from a property at Willaura, south of Ararat.

After putting the snake in his vehicle, Mr Lind walked around the property with the owner and gave her a bandage to keep, giving her instructions on what to do if she was bitten.

As the conversation finished, Mr Lind put his arm out to stop the owner from walking any further as he spotted another snake.

"Lying there was one of the biggest tiger snakes I have ever seen," he said.

"I grabbed it by the tail and as I was picking it up above my head, it swung up to bite me on the face. "I moved back to miss the bite and it bit me under my shoulder blade in my armpit area."

"I shouldn't have even attempted to grab it, but I did. I'm paying for it now and lucky to be alive."

Mr Lind spent 24 hours in intensive care at Ballarat Base Hospital before being transferred to a ward.

Talking from the hospital on Thursday morning, Mr Lind said he would have to retire from snake catching because the antivenin had an impact on his system.

"You can't have it twice. You get all sorts of complications," he said.

"I had two lots this time around. It was a very close call.

Warmer weather means cold-blooded reptiles are now becoming more active, and a lot more visible.

With several sightings of snakes around the region already, wildlife handler Jamie Lind said snakes were mostly found of an evening when the sun goes down.

"Most people who are bitten by snakes are those who try and catch or destroy the snake," he said.

"It is illegal to capture, harm, or kill them. Snakes can be caught and relocated humanely by experienced wildlife controllers."

"The first thing snakes do when they come out from hibernation is source a mating partner. Spring is traditionally the most active time for snakes."

Mr Lind has worked with reptiles for over 20 years and said there were some tips for people to do which could deter snakes from moving into backyards.

"Trees and bushes should be kept cut up high so there isn't too much shade underneath for snakes to find shade during the day," he said.

"A snake cannot penetrate deep if it bites, so always wear long pants and gloves while in the garden."

"When bitten, a snake injects some venom into the meat of your limb, so the most important thing to do is remember to stay still."

"When staying still the venom cannot travel around the lymphatic system. Put a compression bandage at the sight of the bite and call for an ambulance immediately."

"If an animal is bitten, a vet needs to be called immediately."

Mr Lind said watching the snake or trying to find out what type of snake caused the bite was immaterial.

"You generally get bitten by a snake you don’t see rather than one you do," he said.

"People need to remember to back away and keep kids and pets away from the snake and call a snake catcher."

"Once caught the snake will then be relocated."
As the season warms up, volunteer firefighters are completing safety drills and making sure vehicles and equipment are all set for emergencies. We responded to several calls during October to unattended campfires and fuel leaks. Team members have undertaken specialist training locally, as well as in Bendigo and Stawell, and a couple of our Brigade Management Team attended the recent Grampians Fire Conference in the Victoria Valley. Qualified volunteers also continue to provide Fire Equipment Maintenance around Halls Gap and beyond.

Every year the CFA evaluates each brigade’s readiness for the summer, making sure our equipment is maintained and we have sufficient volunteers appropriately trained for a safe and effective emergency response. The recommended minimum for Halls Gap is 24 trained volunteers, but right now we do not have that many. Most of our volunteers are engaged in work, and often across weekends and holidays, so our capacity to respond needs to be strengthened and broadened with new members from a cross section of the community. If you are interested, please call or message Peter Hilbig on 0437 524 716. Not every volunteer needs to fight fires – there are roles in communications, logistics, maintenance and coordination which contribute to the brigade’s operation and efficiency.

And of course, the usual reminder. Daylight saving started at the beginning of October – have you changed over your smoke alarm batteries yet?

First aid for snake bites

For all snake bites:

- Provide emergency care including cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) if needed.
- Call triple zero (000) for an ambulance.
- Apply a pressure immobilisation bandage and keep the person calm and as still as possible until medical help arrives.
- Avoid washing the bite area because any venom left on the skin can help identify the snake.

DO NOT apply a tourniquet, cut the wound or attempt to suck the venom out.
